

The best day in my life!

This was the best day of my life! That day I didn't buy a new PS4, but I offered something and helped a lot.

Last weekend my mum's friend Mary visited us. Mary is a volunteer in her free time, and was talking about the work of the volunteers. Suddenly she asked me:

- Well, are you and your sister free tomorrow afternoon?
- Can we go the Mall together? I asked her.
- No, but I'm sure you will like it! she said.

The next day we met her at the Metro station and started to walk.

- Where are we going?

She didn't answer but she smiled.

After 5 minutes, we arrived at Eleonas. There is a center for the refugees there.

Mary said:

- Now, you are volunteers, too! Let's help the refugees .

We helped the other volunteers to prepare food and tea for them, we packed jackets and clothes and we carried bags with food that other people gave us.

After 3 hours we were really tired but we understood that we had helped the refugees.

- Now, I feel amazing!
I say!

``Finally giving goods or helping is better than buying things for you only. I will never forget that day!``
