

The best day in my life!

This was the best day of my life! Last Friday I was sleeping, when I heard chuckles from the kitchen. When I went there, I asked them: ``Why are you laughing?`` and then all of them told me that I was going to learn the reason in the afternoon.

When I arrived at school the teachers led all the children to the hall. We were wondering what was going on! Then the head teacher came and said : ``No lessons today kids! I'm retiring so let's celebrate!!!`` During the party we were eating lots of sweets and were dancing! We were having lots of fun!

At noon, I came back home. When I went inside, it was dark! Suddenly, the lights were on and all of my friends and my family appeared. Balloons came from everywhere and a banner was in front of me ``Congratulations``. They said to me that an important junior high school in London had accepted me to study there! I was very happy and enthusiastic about it!

I had always wanted to attend this school and that is why I had made an application a month ago. Finally, my wish came true and I was overjoyed about it!!!
